Call for Papers

Allied Social Science Association panel in San Diego and special issue on "Economic Inequality in Asia"

The American Committee on Asian Economic Studies solicits proposals for papers on economic inequality in Asia. Four papers will be selected for the ACAES joint session with the American Economic Association at the Allied Social Science Association Annual Meeting to be held in San Diego, California, January 3-5, 2020. An expanded set of papers will be published as a special issue of the Journal of Asian Economics.

Asia has seen widening disparity in income and wealth over recent decades even as poverty rates have fallen. We seek papers that illuminate the underlying causes of this widening disparity and the role of public policy in mitigating it. Papers on poverty and its alleviation are also welcome. Analysis may be at the country level or comparative across countries.

ASSA proposal deadline: April 30, 2019

Submit proposals to: Calla Wiemer, calla.wiemer@acaes.us

Journal submissions will be accepted until November 30, 2019.
